

SUMMER RECREATION . . . Typical of the summer programs sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Dept. are these classes in gymnastics. Here, Vera Drehman shows Bobby Moffett how to work on the parallel bars. A variety of programs will be offered in gymnastics this summer.

AT CONVLAVE . . . Mr. and Mrs. Al Whittenberg, 21265 S. Figueroa St., are attending the annual dealers conference at Las Vegas for Zenith products dealers. The annual sales and model meeting was attended by 800 Southern California dealers.

Open house activities, from 5 to 9 p.m. today and Friday, will mark the initial public showing of an all new and different kitchen remodeling center in the lobby of the Southern California Gas Co. at 158 S. La Brea Ave., Inglewood.

In announcing the public showing, G. M. Babbe, manager of the firm's southwest division, explained that the display was planned and constructed to demonstrate new ideas in gas appliances, installation, materials, storage and shelving efficiency to local homemakers and builders. The kitchen represents the work of professional designers, decorators, and specialists in kitchen construction, Babbe said.

BASIC DESIGN of the display is an island cooking center, set into a curved ceramic tile counter, and surrounded by a complete line of advanced gas appliances.

Functionally, as modern as tomorrow, the decor of the model kitchen presents the charm of a spacious hacienda in early California. Named "La Cocina Verdes," or "The Green Kitchen," the remodeling center is furnished in Spanish-style, and is accented with green accessories and tropical landscaping.

DESIGNED FOR Southern California living, "La Cocina Verde" offers the best features of indoor living and outdoor living — a modern gas range and oven linked with chergo barbecues for typically Western entertaining. A lushly landscaped patio area, adjacent to the kitchen, carries out the motif of a Spanish Southland with Mexican quarry tile flooring and hanging wrought iron lantern.

Babbe pointed out that "The Green Kitchen" was designed in the Balanced Power concept, the firm's approach to kitchen remodeling and new home building which includes built-in gas appliances and plenty of electrical outlets for toasters, mixers, and other plug-in conveniences.

The entire display area is cooled by gas air conditioning for the comfort of the viewing public. Trained kitchen remodeling consultants will be available to answer questions regarding the design of the

Law in Action

The court is a legal stage, highly charged with the drama of two sides seeking to prevail. Their lawyers use all their skills to advance their client's cause. The stakes are often high—in dollars, in a person's life, his name, or his liberty.

Here the judge must make sure that the parties obey the rules, that the trial is fair, and that it takes place in an atmosphere of respect and serious inquiry.

turb the order of the court. How far can he go for the sake of his client? It depends.

On this point the American Bar Association says "no fear of judicial disfavor or public unpopularity should restrain the lawyer from the full discharge of his duty."

"The highest courts often review a judge's ruling holding a person in contempt, and at times may overrule him.

A COURT can hold a person in contempt when he disobeys a court order to testify or produce records. An improper attempt to influence the court or any of its officers is a ground for contempt.

Hospital Board Meets Tonight

Under our "adversary" theory of a trial the lawyer's sworn duty is to speak up for his client to the fullest extent allowable under the law to promote justice. For if each side does so, the odds are that all aspects of the case will come out.

Advisory Board of the Little Company of Mary Hospital will meet at the hospital tonight at 8. After a regular business meeting, the group will hear a report from Mrs. Karl Ransom, chairman of the Women's Auxiliary committee for the annual benefit day at the Harness races.

BUT THERE are times when in his zeal a lawyer may dis-
